Saint Robert of Knaresborough (1160-1218)

Robert Flower was a well known personality in the middle ages. He had a religious vocation and lived most of his life as a hermit by the river Nidd in Knaresborough. People visited him as his reputation as a holy man became known; "to him both nobles and commoners of both sexes flowed, carrying gifts to him, gladdened by the sight of him and edified by his discourse, and went away roofed in love of Christ" (A Medieval Life). King John came to visit Robert in his cave and was rebuked for disturbing his prayer time!

The church in Pannal was not always named after Robert but was probably rededicated to him after the dissolution, during the reign of Edward VI. It is the only Anglican church dedicated to Saint Robert of Knaresborough.

Many events are being planned to celebrate the life of this unusual local saint in 2018. To find out more about the life of Saint Robert and the events being planned, visit

Saint Robert's
CLOCK
Appeal

To celebrate the 800th anniversary of the life of the Pannal church's patron Saint, Robert of Knaresborough

St Robert's Parish Church has stood at the centre of Pannal community for hundreds of years. It provides a place for private prayer, Sunday services and for those special times in our lives such as christenings, weddings and funerals. The church's patron saint is St. Robert of Knaresborough whose 800th anniversary falls next year. Events will be held during 2018 to mark this historic milestone. As a more lasting legacy of the occasion we would very much like to renovate the faces of the church clock.

The clock is an asset for the whole community and has reminded local people of the time for over 200 years; but its three faces have become shabby and it is sorely in need of renovation.

The clock is an asset for the whole community and has reminded local people of the time for over 200 years; but its three faces have become shabby and it is sorely in need of renovation. If done properly with a long-lasting blue paint background and gold leaf to the hands and numerals the new look will last many years. As you can imagine this work will be expensive and quotes for the work are in the order of £8,000. We will of course raise what we can from our congregation but it is a large amount for Pannal church to find solely from our own resources so we are appealing to the community for financial assistance with this project.
